

Kathryn Oviatt

---

The foundation of your tribunal success

Kathryn has a Bachelor of Arts and a Bachelor of Laws, both with distinction, from the University of Alberta. She worked as legal counsel to the Court of Queen's Bench and at a large law firm before starting her own practice in neutral adjudication. Kathryn holds the professional designation of Qualified Arbitrator from the ADR Institute of Canada. Kathryn chairs private arbitrations, is a tribunal member for the Alberta Human Rights Commission and is a hearing panel member for the Real Estate Council of Alberta. She was also a tribunal member for the Subdivision Development Appeal Board for the City of Edmonton. Kathryn has extensive experience with employment law, professional regulation, privacy and human rights law.